

Katie Liggett

Katie Liggett is a dedicated educator with 22 years of experience in Nashville, currently teaching second grade at Ida B. Wells Elementary, where she nurtures a love of learning in her students. A passionate advocate for literacy and education equity, Katie has been an integral part of East Nashville Hope Exchange since 2008, helping shape and support its mission. In 2024, she was inducted into the Nashville Public Schools Foundation Hall of Fame and honored with the Annette Eskind Inspiring Educator Award, a testament to her commitment to creating supportive, joyful, and engaging learning environments. Outside of the classroom, Katie enjoys life in East Nashville with her husband, Eric, and their 10-year-old son, Ian, continuing her work to inspire young minds and strengthen her community.
