

Lauren McKenzie

As a former early childhood educator Lauren is dedicated to ensuring all students have access to high-quality early learning experiences. She holds a B.S. in Human Development and Family Studies, an M.Ed. in Instructional Practice, and is currently pursuing a Ph.D. in Education Leadership and Policy at the University of Texas. Her research focuses on early childhood policy and strengthening family and community partnerships. In her current role as Director of Operations for the Texas House of Representatives Early Childhood Caucus, Lauren actively supports policies that enhance early learning opportunities for young children.
